Learning through Drawing: a course for primary teachers

Venue: Birmingham City University, Perry Barr
Session 1 Friday 26 June 16.30 – 19.00
Session 2 Saturday 27 June 9.30 – 16.00
Session 3 Tuesday 14 July 16.30 – 19.00
Session 4 Tuesday 20 October 16.30 – 19.00
Cost £150
Includes lunch on session two, refreshments and supporting materials

The course is for primary teachers who wish to develop a range of strategies, methods and techniques for drawing to develop pupils' personal, learning and thinking skills (PLTS) across the curriculum. It is a joint venture between The Campaign for Drawing and Birmingham City University in recognition of the demands of a changing primary curriculum that require more creative approaches both to teaching and learning. The course will be led by Eileen Adams, director of Power Drawing.

Drawing across the Curriculum: Learning, engagement and enjoyment

Date Monday 8 July 2009 10.00– 16.30
Venue The Manchester Museum
Cost £55 / £35

The course, for teachers and cultural educators, will promote a greater understanding of the purposes of drawing, greater confidence in using drawing as a medium for learning across the curriculum, knowledge of a wider range of drawing strategies and links between practice in primary and secondary schools. The diverse collections of the Manchester Museum will be an inspiration and stimulus for planning cross-curricular projects involving drawing.
